Improved Slat Design

"G" Type Interlock for a smoother opening and closing operation for improved convenience.

Tightest Seal

- PVC/Hytrel seal with dual durometer for better wear and sealing.
- Side-rail seals (santoprene/silicone) provide a flat, tight seal for easier door operation.
- Top-rail seal (santoprene V-type) doesn't rub against the cover reducing friction.
- Bottom seal (EDPM rubber bulb) provides a bulb-type, flatter seal with improved sealing.
- Top-gap seal (D-seal rubber) is a heavier, more rigid seal that prevents water, dust, and debris from entering.

Top Rail Bolt Cover

None required, reducing hard-to-install components that frequently come loose and cause issues.

UHMW Track/Radius

Lower friction surface with excellent abrasion resistance and impact strength allows for easier extension and retraction of the bed cover.

Sill Plate Water Dam

Lower chances of water damage with water dam design in the sill plate.

Side Bed Rails

Water gusset extensions are designed into the full length of the rail so any water is guided to the back of the truck and out of the truck bed.
